

Nash's Numbers

by Alan Nash (A95)

I may be boring you with hotel chains, but I am amazed at the number of hotel chains that expand or take over other chains. Also some here may insult your intelligence, but the other night I was asked for Park Lane (just the road) on arriving at Hyde Park corner I asked where abouts in Park Lane, the passenger replied, the Sheraton Hotel. I said it was in Knightsbridge, he said, "no it's behind the Metropole", easy mistake because I didn't think of the Park Lane hotel as a Sheraton. The full Holiday Inn list was in the January issue, the five entries in this issue is to clarify easily made mistakes.

From a suggestion by Laurence Kelvin, Whiskey 88, I would like to provide, in a future issue, car wash facilities and petrol stations with drive through machines. But I need your help. Both good and bad experiences. I need location, price to taxi drivers, opening times, and your score out of 10.

e-mail to alan.nash@btinternet.com or non IT people, drop a note into the Call Sign pigeon hole in the drivers reception.
